

The Bamboo Group Ltd is committed to protecting your privacy. The following Privacy Policy sets out our standard processes for both the gathering of information and its dissemination for all websites under the control of The Bamboo Group Ltd GB 06653763

The Bamboo Group Ltd might be required to revise this Privacy Policy in the future to comply with any applicable European regulations, in order to utilise new technologies or to improve the user experience, so please check back periodically.

This Privacy Policy covers The Bamboo Group Ltd's information collection and usage practices for all website users and the manner in which The Bamboo Group Ltd collects and uses this information.

Your name, address and email address will only be used for operational purposes. We will never pass on, sell or otherwise disclose your personal details to other companies or third parties, other than law enforcement, when compelled to do so. Likewise payment details will never be disclosed to others unless required by law. By using payment processors such as PayPal & Google Checkout, we are not aware of any debit or credit card details as the transaction occurs on their secure servers, away from our site & responsibility.

The Bamboo Group Ltd has no control over the privacy practices of any third party, including any of our affiliates, and the manner in which any third party uses your information is not protected by the terms of this Privacy Policy.

In addition, The Bamboo Group Ltd contains links to other sites, advertisers and other third parties. By clicking on any of these links, you are leave this website. The Bamboo Group Ltd has no control over the information collected from or about you by any third party after you have left any of the The Bamboo Group's websites.

The data collection and usage practices of any third party linked to The Bamboo Group Ltd are not covered by this Privacy Policy. The Bamboo Group Ltd assumes no liability and is not responsible for any practices of such third party web sites, including their privacy practices or content.

The Bamboo Group Ltd may use cookies to store and collect information about your usage whilst on any of the Group's websites and/or affiliate web sites. Cookies are small pieces of information that are stored by your browser on your computer's hard drive and that send the information stored in them back to our web server when The Bamboo Group Ltd web pages are accessed.

They may contain personally identifying information as that enables us to load your personal settings and preferences information. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies by default, but contain an option for you to turn off the cookie acceptance if you prefer. If you turn off your cookie acceptance, you might find that you are not be able to sign in to restricted areas of the site or access some of the site's features.

Additional system information we may gather includes time, type of web browser being used, the operating system/platform, your CPU speed or IP address, the web site from which you link to one of the The Bamboo Group's websites. We also take note of whether and how you use the information and services that we provide by recording site traffic patterns, user clickstreams and by maintaining log files of users' access to site files.

Your can be reassured that your personal details will never be shared with any third party, without your express permission. The information we gather from you will only be used by The Bamboo Group in order to provide you with access to our products, services and information that we believe will interest you. The Bamboo Group may also use information about our users in statistical aggregate form, ie all gathered information collated together, without specific personal references, as information such as sign up figure, traffic patterns and site user trends.

You may change, modify or delete information previously given, either by logging into your account or by contacting us direct and requesting the data be deleted. Please sufficient contact information in order to allow us to verify your identity.

The Bamboo Group may also send occasional emails to registered users notifying them of new issues, special offers and new features on the web site. Please check the FAQs for information regarding contact and the ability to opt-out of receiving these mailings. Every e-mail you receive from us will include a link enabling you to unsubscribe from the mailing list. Click on this link and you will be taken to a page where you will be able to unsubscribe from all future e-mails from this site. Alternatively you can e-mail us and request to be taken off the

We use physical security, 24 hr guarded premises, up to date security software and current good practice protocols to protect our internal information and a Firewall (security software) protects from Internet based attacks.

If you have any questions regarding this privacy statement, our practices or anything else, you may contact us via the contacts tab of the main menu.